Chamundeshwari Temple is located on the Chamundi Hills. Devi is Chamundeshwari here and considered as one among the 18 Shakti Peethas. It is known as Krouncha peedha, as city was called Krouncha Puri earlier. It is said that hair of Sati Devi fell here.

Story says that Mahishasura had been granted a wish by Brahma deva that he could not be killed by a man or an animal and he began to disturb everyone.

Parvati Devi fought with Mahishasura taking the form of Chamundeshwari.

The battle between Chamundeshwari and Mahishasura lasted ten days and Mahishasura was defeated. This victory of good over evil is celebrated as the festival of Dussehra.

Gigantic Nandi of about over 15 feet height is main attraction here. Mahishasura statue, holding a snake and a sword is seen in the temple.
