A small #thread on my favourite pasuram about Aadhiseshan... Who incarnated as Swamy Ramanuja...

■When emperuman goes out on foot, Aadhiseshan will be his umbrella,

■When emperumAn desires to sit, Adhiseshan will be his throne,

■When emperuman desires to stand, Adhiseshan will be his sandals,

■In the expansive milk ocean, when emperuman wants to rest awhile, Adhiseshan becomes his soft mattress that floats,

■If emperuman wants to see objects, Adhiseshan will become auspicious lamp,

■When emperumAn desires to recline, he will become the pillow,

■If emperuman desires in his divine mind to wear a beautiful dress, Adhiseshan will be his yellow silky dress which indicates that emperuman is the supreme entity...

Just as golden bar can be converted into ornaments as we desire, Adhiseshan also transforms into umbrella, throne, sandals, float, lamp, divine dress, pillow etc while carrying out service to emperuman and Piratti.

Adiseshan, as name denotes, supreme seshan to serve emperuman... Has taken several forms, among which he has incarnated as an avatara purusha taking main role in each yuga as follows :
Kritha yuga - Adiseshan
Thretha yuga - Lakshman
Dwapara yuga - Balaram
Kalki yuga - Ramanuja
