

Twitter Thread by Chittukuruvi

Chittukuruvi

@chittukuruvi4

India is having a crisis. A resurgence of pandemic. Made worse by all news channels creating nothing but panic. In the middle of it we have internal enemies. Internal Political enemies SuSu Swamy and his cronies.

Then anti-nationals from Congress, RJD, SP and company including DMK, Commies (of course), TRS, Jagan and TMC. These fellows only consideration is what is in it for me. They could not care two hoots for ordinary folks.

The next category - the 4th pillar of democracy. But the pillar is stinking because the so called watch dogs of democracy - have been pissing in the same place where they are standing. Includes @sardesairajdeep @GargiRawat @PrannoyRoyNDTV fluctuation @navikakumar and Co.

Then there is next breed called the twitter celebs - who blow hot and blow cold. One day they will be on this side, the next they will be fence sitting and out supporting the other side. Their only aim is to get likes, followers and RTs - in other words, Twitter TRPs.

Then we have folks who think they are Lord of all they purvey. Their own house is stinking with pending cases of over 4 decades where cases suffocate with no light or oxygen but are bothered about Govt. supplying oxygen, as if anyone can produce O2 through "akarabakarda..." and presto, Oxygen is here. Another brilliant nautanki, in between chirps in and says because of tree felling our oxygen supplies are limited.

Then we have people at BBC who love portraying in the most negative way. They could not care less that India has done many humanitarian gestures as opposed to Britain creating humanitarian crisis.

Am sure there are scavenging NGOs who are salivating at the prospect of raising money through which they will do some conversions just like Mother Theresa did. And bigger scavengers will replicate the unholy act of some of the padres.

In the midst of it, we have our own people, ordinary twitter handles and folks outside of Twitter who like Oases in Sahara desert who are lending helping hand to each other guided by a bigger vision of helping each other, praying for each other.

Last but not the least, the Corona Warriors, who are doing tremendous job alongwith Vaccine manufacturers. And of course of our Government mechanism of whom am absolutely proud of.

Choice is what do each of us want to be. The former or the latter. I choose to be the latter.

@mayfair1958 @Muralik79739498 @anexcommie