One of the greater pleasures of no longer writing about science is becoming aware of new titles by utter masters of the game - both books by @phalpern and @maruschown are ready for pre-order. Perfect summer reading by writers without equal, they are that good #goodreads #class

The book cover has a dark navy blue background. It is decorated with numerous colorful rectangular strips of confetti in shades of yellow, red, teal, and blue, scattered across the surface. The title 'FLASHES OF CREATION' is written in a large, bold, white sans-serif font. The word 'FLASHES' is at the top, 'OF' is in the middle and smaller, and 'CREATION' is at the bottom. The 'O' in 'OF' is stylized with a burst of small, multi-colored dashes radiating from its center.
