THREAD: TRUMP JUST BECAME MORE OF A NATIONAL SECURITY THREAT THAN HE ALREADY WAS: As most of us know by know, the trump org was indicted on ten counts yesterday, and the CFO Allen Weisselberg was indicted in 15 counts 1/

Despite what the trump org lawyers and donald's crotch goblins are saying - that all Weisselberg did wrong was that he failed to report a mercedes benz to the IRS - these are serious crimes and include conspiracy, fraud, and falsifying business records. 2/

As @kurteichenwald explains here: an org indictment could mean trump lenders will likely call in their loans early, especially if the org falsified business records as count 12 shows it did. So what does this have to do with NATIONAL SECURITY? 3/ https://t.co/26ziPtY13X

> As someone who has written for decades about corporate crime, I was reading the Trump O/Weisselberg indictment going, "Yah, ok..hmm..yah..ok..Wait..HOLY SHIT!" The Trump Org is in deep, deep trouble. And not because of the criminal charges. Because of its bank loan covenants.../1

Remember when Sue Gordon - who resigned with Bolton after the Ukraine shadow government (Rudy) and the scheme to extort Zelensky in exchange for an investigation announcement into Biden was discovered - wrote an op ed "Cut Off his Intelligence"? 4/ https://t.co/TXfh2PSv3P

Sue Gordon feared what I posited three months before she wrote the op-ed: that donald was broke and would sell our secrets to pay his debts 5/ https://t.co/F8Bw2xUGPJ

> He\u2019s going to sell intelligence secrets to pay his debts.

I took it a step further & believe that trump's burrowed lackeys in our intel agencies were there to collect info - like when trump installed Ellis as the NSA general counsel (the guy who hid the Zelensky conversation in the code word classified server) 6/ https://t.co/fXsOcj4sdu

> If they cut off his intelligence briefings, how will he get access to our national security secrets to sell? Perhaps by burrowing allies into intelligence agencies? I\u2019m just guessing, but it seems pretty obvious to me, and I\u2019ve been saying it for a while. END/ pic.twitter.com/oKVi0TmGsi

Fortunately, Ellis was sidelined the DAY trump left office due to a "security inquiry" into his "mishandling of classified information". YOU DON'T SAY. 7/ https://t.co/q3tCHZXOQO

With evidence that trump cooked the books, lenders will come knocking, AND the trump org russian money laundering machine means kremlin-backed straw loans will dry up, too. Trump will be desperate for money, and therefore, one of our biggest national security threats END
