hinduism_and_science Another Hindu mandir destroyed!!!

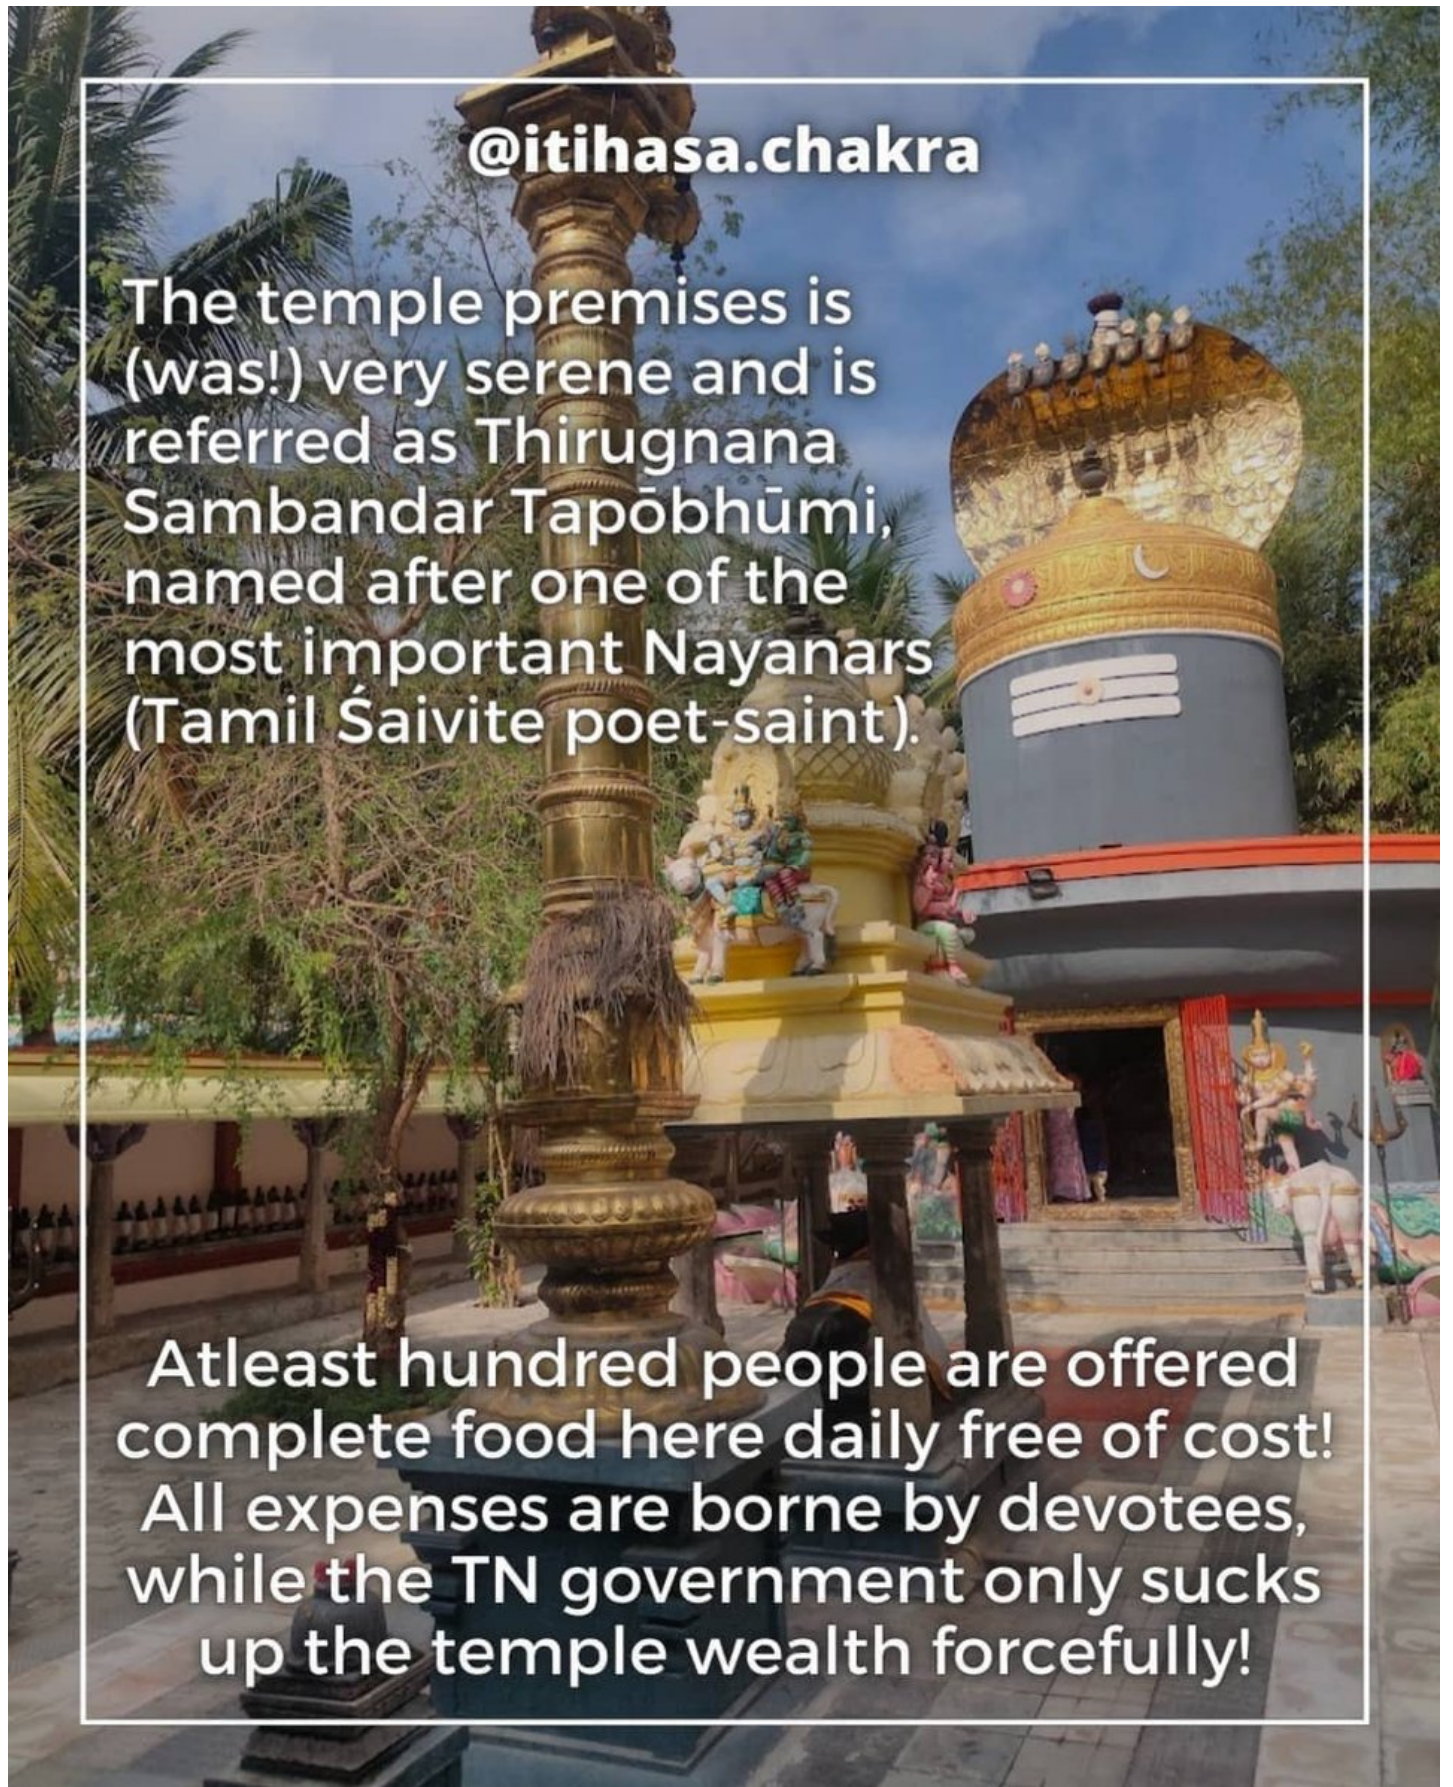

Advocates & activists like @jsd.adv please look into this!

Raising our voice is the only thing I can do for now!

The temple premises is (was!) very serene and is referred as Thirugnana Sambandar Tapobhumi, named after one of the most important Nayanars (Tamil Saivite poet-saint).

Atleast hundred people are offered complete food here daily free of cost All expenses are borne by devotees.3/6

Atleast hundred people are offered complete food here daily free of cost! All expenses are borne by devotees, while the TN government only sucks up the temple wealth forcefully!

A day ago TN government officials barbarically destroyed this ancient and beautiful temple premises!

Hindu devotees first resisted, and begged, after police brutality, for some time to atleast evacuate the murtis of Devi & Devatas.

They were given no time 4/6

The reason given was same, just like other temples destroyed by government, that temple is an encroachment on water body
Temples have existed on the banks of rivers, and other Waterbodies for centuries! Rather it's almost mandatory for a Siva temple to be situated near water 5/6

The reason given was obvious, just like other temples destroyed by government, that the temple is an encroachment on water body!

Hindu temples have existed on the banks of rivers, lakes and other waterbodies for centuries! Rather it's almost mandatory for a Siva temple to be situated near water!
