50 years ago, USA threatened India to stop the 1971 war. India, in the midst of the war, had to send an SOS to the Soviet Union.

A story of #1971War that has been erased from our #History books.

When ■■■'s defeat in the #1971War seemed imminent, Kissinger (NSA) spurred Nixon to send the US 7th Fleet's Task Force, led by the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise, to the Bay of Bengal.

The USS Enterprise, at 75,000 ton, was the world's largest nuclear-powered aircraft carrier in the 1970s with more than 70 fighter aircraft, a MONSTER.

The Indian Navy's fleet was led by the 20,000-ton aircraft carrier, Vikrant, with 20 light fighter aircraft.

The USS Enterprise was being dispatched to secure American citizens in ■■■ was the 'official' American statement.

Unofficially it was to threaten the Indian forces and prevent the liberation of East Pakistan.

■■■ soon got an another bad news.

Soviet intelligence reported to ■■■ that a powerful British naval group led by the aircraft carrier HMS Eagle with commando carrier HMS Albion, several destroyers and other ships were approaching India's territorial waters from the west, towards the Arabian Sea.

The British & the Americans planned a coordinated pincer attack to intimidate ■■■: the British ships in the Arabian Sea will target India's western coast, while the Americans would make a dash to Chittagong.

Caught between the British & the American ships was the Indian Navy.

It was December #1971 , & the world's two leading democracies were now threatening the world's largest democracy. An SOS from Delhi was sent to Moscow. The Red Navy soon dispatched 16 Soviet naval units and six nuclear submarines from Vladivostok to block USS Enterprise.

Admiral N. Krishnan, the chief of the Eastern Command of the Indian Navy, wrote in his book, 'No Way But Surrender' that he was afraid that the Americans will reach Chittagong. He mentions how they even thought of attacking Enterprise, in a do or die move, to slow it down.

On December 2nd week 1971, the US 7th Fleet's Task Force, led by the monstrous USS Enterprise arrived in the Bay of Bengal. The British fleet was arriving in the Arabian Sea.

The world held its breath.

But, unknown to the Americans, the submerged Soviet submarines had overtaken them.

As USS Enterprise moved towards East Pakistan, the Soviet submarines surfaced without any warning. The Soviet subs were now standing between ■■ and the ■■ naval force.

The Americans were shocked.

Admiral Gordon told the 7th American Fleet Commander: "Sir, we are too late. The Soviets are here!"

Both the ■■ and ■■ fleets backed off.

Today, most Indians have forgotten about this colossal naval chess battle between the two superpowers in the Bay of Bengal.
