ORIGINAL POLO WAS FROM INDIA NOT BRITISH

The cradle of modern polo is India, and Manipur (Kangleipak) is known as the Origin of Modern Polo. Polo's (Sagol Kanjei) origins can be traced back to 3100 B.C. in the ancient Manipur/Kangleipak text "Puya."

A Polo match between the friends of Ngonda Lairen Pakhangba, who ascended the kingdom of Manipur in 33 A.D., is also mentioned in the Royal Chronicle of Manipur, Cheitharol Kumbaba.

As proof of his marital commitment to his queen Laisana, he introduced her to the royal crowd on that day.

In the ancient historical text of the #Mahabharata, Manipur is mentioned several times about Arjuna and the queens he wedded. Krishn's RaasDance is one of the most popular in Manipur and is performed during the festival.

Spend some time and go to Manipur, a legendary location.
