Stephen Curry: The Man Who Changed The Game

THE THREAD

As we all know Stephen Curry has revolutionized the game of basketball. Not only in the NBA but every league minor to major and even in the lives of kids and adults alike.

Teams are hoisting up almost 30 long distance shots a game. What was once considered a bad shot is now what teams look for in players. Kids, Teens, Young prospects alike are now emulating Curry's game and you know how he did all of that? By Having the Greatest Shot In History.

With that said, I want to welcome you to Stephen Curry: The Man Who Changed The Game

January 10th, 2014, Celtics vs. Warriors

After a tough layup by Jeff Green the game is tied Steph Curry has the ball in his hands with one thing on his mind. "I'm gonna win this game".

April 1st, 2014, Mavs vs. Dubs

After a blocked shot the warriors get another opportunity with plenty of time on the clock. Steph Curry brings the ball up court runs the time out a little then just steps back and fires like its nothing. Sinking it with a tenth of a second left.

December 2nd, 2014, Warriors vs. Magic

4 Words. He Does It Again

May 15th, 2015, Grizzlies vs. Warriors, Game 6, Western Conference Semifinals.

Who remembers when this went in?

January 5th, 2015, Warriors vs. Thunder

Steph with a beautiful move and a beautiful shot

January 17th, 2015, Warriors vs. Bulls

LOOK AT THE PASS!!!!

March 31st, 2015, Clippers vs. Bulls

The move that made the meme. We all know this one.

March 8th, 2015 Warriors vs. Clippers

This was actually a defining moment in Curry's career. Jeff Van Gundy says it might be the greatest move he's ever seen.

June 14th, 2015

After Matthew Dellavedova locked up Curry a more than a few times being dubbed "The Curry Stopper" among many others things, Curry down the stretch in game 5 of the finals becomes lethal, knocking down shot after shot to bring the Warriors over the Cavs.

February 14th, 2015, 3PT Contest, Klay vs. Curry

Steph Curry goes for 27 points, 13 shots made in a row, to beat fellow splash brother Klay Thompson in the 2015 3PT Contest

April 17th, 2013, Blazers vs. Warriors

Steph Curry at the time having an amazing season, knocks down his 270th Three pointer of the season surpassing Ray Allen's former record of 269

February 27th, 2013, Knicks vs. Warriors

The game that made us fear him. Curry hits 11 of his 13 3's for 54 POINTS in The Garden. Steph sets a new career high and makes every one know the name Curry.

4/23/15

The Pelicans down 2-0 not trying to lose, fight hard leading the Warriors by 5. With under 20 seconds left in the game, Steph does the unthinkable and knocks down a 3 to make it a 2 point game. Warriors foul Davis he misses the first and warriors have a chance to tie...

At this point in Steph's career he was already The 3PT's made in a season leader, 1x All Rookie, 1x MVP, 2x All Star, All NBA 1st & 2nd team & the 2x Free throw PCT leader. All of that before the 15-16 season. The season some say may be the greatest individual season ever...

April 2nd, 2017, Warriors vs. Wizards

Steph Curry fakes out Gortat on such a disrespectful move. He gets a clean shot and knocks it down

December 28th, 2015, Casspi vs. Curry.

What a battle, Casspi heats up and Steph has an answer for each and every one of Casspi's bombs. Steph hits 5 threes and ends up with 17 points in only 4 minutes. ■

January 28th, 2018, Warriors vs. Clippers

No Words.

May 9th, 2016, Blazers vs. Warriors, Game 4, Western Conference Semifinals.

Steph Curry finally coming back after 2 weeks out off a nasty ankle injury, delivers a game of legends. 40 Points, 17 in OT. And the iconic "I'm Back" while closing out the game.

June 4th, 2017, Warriors vs. Cavaliers, Game 2, 2017 NBA Finals

Steph Curry with a remarkable three absolutely puts the dagger in the Cavs as the Warriors take game 2. Mike Breen or for that matter ANYBODY couldn't believe it went in.

We all know this as Klay's game but Curry really delivered down the stretch in the game that changed the NBA forever, giving the Warriors 11 points straight in the 3rd. Curry ends with 31 points and the Legendary 7 Fingers to the crowd signifying that this series aint over yet.

November 8th, 2016, Warriors vs Pelicans

Steph had already broken many shooting records and even broken his own records multiple times, but there was one record he was yet to surpass, until the night of November 8th...

We got to run that back at a different angle. Just WOW.

February 27th 2016, Thunder vs. Warriors

Down 11 at halftime and with Draymond reportedly verbally going at it with Steve Kerr in the locker room things were not looking good for the Warriors. That's until everything changed when The Golden Boy put the entire Bay on his back.

February 27th 2016, Thunder vs. Warriors

Stephen Curry, deciding not to use the warriors final timeout, brings the ball up court and does what nobody could believe.

He pulled up from 37 Feet and took the game in what would be the defining moment of his MVP season.

Steph Curry would eventually cap off his season as the first unanimous MVP ever. having one of the greatest seasons in NBA History.

Just some of his accolades so far:

3x NBA Champion

2x NBA MVP

5x NBA All-Star

5x All-NBA selection (2x First Team)

NBA scoring leader

1x Steals Leader

End Of Thread.

I'm glad I was able to make this thread as Steph really is one of the most talented players in NBA history, and he deserved it immensely. Thank you all for reading this far. I appreciate all the love and support.

If you all could follow me as I take hours upon hours to make these threads, and to stay up to date on my next threads, I would appreciate it immensely. also check out @ZacksVisuals he made the edit at the beginning and he is really talented.
