Axtel Market Cap grew 13x for every Rs 1 of Retained Earning for 10yrs & 17x for 7yrs. Incredible!													Axtel SSGR is 24% (Mar 20) & 47% TTM (Sep20) but it has been growing sales at 8-11% over last 10 yrs. So it can fund its future growth with its Profit without changing its Capital Structure (Taking Debt / Diluting Equity). By Far Growth has been funded by Equity/Retained Earnings with some Debt (negligible now). WC & FCF analysis also favors the conclusion.
Axtel EPS Growth is 74% in addition to Retained Earnings Growth in last 10yrs but it is 174% over last 7yrs. Fantastic!
Management Compensation Seems on higher side

SSGR Analysis !

It gives +ive vibes for future growth. Further the Working Capital management & it's Free Cash Flow further strengthen the view.

Last 10yrs

Generated 66 Cr CFO

36 Cr Capex

13 Cr dividend Paid.

FCF of 30 Cr

Generated 66 Cr CFO whereas it has used 36 Cr Capex and given 13 Cr as dividend. Thus inflow of cash is 66 Cr whereas utilization is only 49 Cr (36+13). CFO (66 Cr) > PAT (45 Cr). No wonder it doesn't need much debt & has FCF of 30 Cr

 @COOLFUNDOO

Overall Management Compensation seems higher than normally allowed. Future Profit incr with same pace might make them compliant in a yr or two.

Only related party transaction which I found little dicey was Rs 42 lakh Fees paid to a company belonging to Promoter's brother.

Small Other Income compared to PAT

Promoter Holding is 49.95%. Though it seems low but if you notice public shareholdings there are relatives of promoters (Babbar & Pathak) holding 16% share.

■ So there is very only 14% shares left as free float (which actually available for trading).

Check #Axtel Total no. of Equity shares = 1.2 Cr

Promoter holding 49.5%

Promoter relatives in Public 16%

Free Float -> 61 lakh

■ Hence only 61 lakh shares available for trading so small interest from few investors can move price crazily !

10

#Axtel has generated 30Cr of FCF in last 10yr on CFO of 66Cr.

FCF has been fluctuating (see red & green)

It has Cash of 6.5 Cr

Cash flow to Capex has been Impressive ■

If I summarize #Axtel Fundamentals in layman terminology ->

Profitability -> Excellent.

Efficiency, Solvency, Growth-> Good.

Quality is Ok.

Fin Trend is turning Very +ive.

12

#Axtel manufactures various Machineries & Equipments for the clients in Food Processing industry like

Continuous Fryers

Big Bag Filling Pasta Machines

Vacuum Gravity Separators

Universal Mills with Plate Beaters

Continuous Khoa Making Machines

13

Axtel has mainly 3 divisions -

Snacks, Spices, Confectionary. Apart from packaging it does everything.

Space is mostly dominated by European & American manufacturers like Buhler, Rockwell, SPX, Russell Finex etc

■Axtel has cost advantage against them.

14

Sales 81% in India, 19% Export.

Clients like

Cadbury

Nestle(India,Thailand,Bangladesh,Sri Lanka,Russia, Malaysia,Morocco,Vietnam,Phillipines)

Godrej Industries

Britannia

GSK Cons Hlth

CCL Products

Mondelez(India, Singapore, Vietnam)

15

In 1st Tweet ■ above you will notice I have highlighted FY15 was disaster for #Axtel as a large order from a major client was cancelled.

Client Concentration is still little risk but after that setback they have been continuously diversifying in other FMCG.

16

No long term contract is another thing to watch out. For Example, Nestle contract is for 1 yr & gets renewed every year.

They don't have Intellectual Property rights on their design so need to continuous maintain their Quality standards to win more contracts.

17

Conclusion->

I feel it has potential to grow as its clients in food processing industry doing Capex which results in orders for #Axtel. Good quality & low cost advantage helping it to gain reputed clients.

Financial Trend is coming on track. Corp Gov needs some improvement.

InvestableSmallCapUniverse

As per @Atulsingh_Asan SmallCap are risky so several parameters need to be considered like Promoter Holding>50% (relaxed to 49%). No Pledge (I relaxed it to <15% for Promoter Holding above 60%). Not too much Fixed Assets. Lower Working Capital. Good Historical Performance. +ive CFO. Consistent Divident Payout. Consistent ROE>15. PE<20 (Or I added PE < MaxPEtoPAY). Good Sales & Earnings Growth. No Stock Split/Bonus/Rights Issue.  Additional criteria for Solvency Check, Good Cash/Cash Equivalents wrt Working Capital & Sales ****
