

Twitter Thread by Main Habits | Psychology

Main Habits | Psychology

@MainHabits

8 Lessons I Wish I Learned Sooner In Life:

| Psychology & Life Thread |

1. Your health is a precious asset, Include fitness as a habit early in life.
2. You can't change your parents, accept it. Love them and be thankful for bringing you to the world.
3. The more you know about yourself, the more you can achieve in life.
4. Realize that happiness is a mindset. Nothing will make you happy unless you change your state of mind and Learn to make the most of the little moments.
5. Don't collect things, create memories.
6. You are the reflection of those you spend most of your time with. If you're surrounded by winners, you're going to be a winner.
7. You can't throw your life away on insecure relationships. If you can't trust each other, leave the relationship.
8. You've been through tough times?
Going through a lot is great, It makes you more stronger.

The End!

If I've been able to add at least 1% to your life, you can support me by: LIKE/RT/FOLLOW

Thank you all!

Thank you @AlexMaeseJ for the visual!

Subscribe to my FREE newsletter for a deep dive on self-development topics every Friday!■

<https://t.co/hwugN6w4ga>