I have cleared some of the toughest entrance tests in the country like that for IIT, IIM, IAS. It is not that I was not distracted during studies, but I overcame those distractions.

Small tips on how to overcome distractions and get great focus

A thread■

Reducing mobile usage

■ Measure

Check your phone usage and apps u spent time on every week. Many times you dont even know how much time you are wasting on mobile apps. Android users can use free apps like

Steps to reduce usage

■ Physical distance

Keep the phone with the internet switched off and away from you while studying. You can also keep it locked and with a parent/ friend. Heavens will not fall while you are studying and if it is something urgent, you will get the message.

■ Technological solution:

Use apps like Blackout to block internet for at least 6 hours every day. Force yourself to study in that time. It is not a free app, but it is very effective. Once it blacks out the phone, you can't go back for the period

■ Early morning study

Keep the alarm away from you, on loud volume. Most likely once you get up from the bed to switch off the alarm, you will decide to not go back to sleep and study. Early morning study is the best these days especially as it has lesser distractions

To increase focus

■ Keep short focused Sessions

- Do 90-minute/2 hr intensely focused sessions
- Take 15 min break after every session

You cannot maintain focus for longer than that at one go. Measure the session. Till the alarm goes off, don't do anything else but study

■ Practice Tratak meditation

This is known to increase focus

Fix your eyes on an object. This can be the flame of a candle, a pencil, a spot on the wall.

■ Binaural beats

Listening to Binaural beats which are sound vibrations of 40 Hz helps in

- a) Enhances focus
- b) Decreases amount of time it takes to get into a focused state

These can be obtained from youtube

■ Exercise & Outdoor

- Exercise preferably outside, at least a 20 mins walk
- Get close to nature - go to a park and walk/sit
- Get some sunlight even if for 5-10 mins

■ Nutrition

While studying we forget to take care of nutrition. A balanced diet helps in increasing focus. Also reduces the need to munch on snacks.

That's a wrap!

While these are simple tips, sometimes small things make a huge difference when done repeatedly.

Best of luck for whatever you are trying to focus for!
