And ‘audit’ can only be as good as the Auditor + Access that they are given + standards they are auditing to.

I feel like (when it comes to Tech) we have people making rules & certifications that can neither hear, nor see... evil.

Remember this as we call for election “Audits”.

Now, if what you are suggesting is they should do a full audit of election software + machine security, that could be worthwhile.

But these software packages have never been reviewed/oversight!
