For a few weeks I've been wondering about Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez and just how she emerged as a politico. Her path to Washington is shocking, at the very least. My first question was: What were her campaign positions BEFORE she became a national figure?

1/

So I went to her campaign website and took that web address and looked through the internet archive. When I went back to 2017, it was not her website, it belonged to the group "Brand New Congress."

2/

3/

Here's what the same web address looked like in late 2017:

4/

What's “Brand New Congress?” BNC is a group of Bernie Sanders staffers who got together, decided to make the 2018 midterms all about Bernie policies by taking his ideas & finding 400 Bernie carbon copies to dump into Congressional & other races, creating a 400 headed Bernie.

5/

Watch Rachel Maddow explain and discuss with the co-founder of Brand New Congress, Saikat Chakrabarti.

I know, I know, Rachel Maddow. But if you want to learn about the left, you have to actually watch and listen to them.

https://t.co/JWBnMZS7ee

The idea is that BNC will select candidates that must sign onto the Bernie Sanders plan and “bi partisan issues” such as: Income Inequality, Climate Change, Mass Incarceration, Get money out of politics.

Keep Income Inequality & geting $ out of politics in mind for later.

7/

Here’s the official current policy page that ALL of their candidates have signed onto: https://t.co/cdM9lLtmgl

Fixing the Economy, Medicare for All, Tax Reform, Foreign Policy, Women’s Rights, CJ Reform, Voting Rights, LGBTQIA Rights, Immigration Reform, ...

8/

... Environmental & Renewable Energy, Getting $ out of Politics, Veterans Rights, Education, Racial Justice, Online Freedom.

They obviously take the far far left approach on every issue.

9/

If you follow the bouncing ball, Saikat Chakrabarti- the BNC guy talking with Maddow- also is an Exec Director of an affiliated organization, “Justice Democrats.” The Justice Democrats PAC and the Brand New Congress organization are essentially inseparable.

10/

THIS IS WHERE IT GETS REALLY WEIRD.

“Justice Democrats” is a PAC co-founded by Cenk Uygur, the far lefty that used to be on MSNBC and eventually started a Youtube blog called TYT (The Young Turks). Yeah, this guy-->

11/

That’s right. The person behind the curtain that put Alexandria Osasio-Cortez into that national spotlight is Cenk Uygur.

12/

Here’s Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez talking to The Young Turks & Cent Uygur about how Brand New Congress and Justice Democrats pursued her to run for Congress. (10 minute mark)

https://t.co/XyiRUT01Ls

13/

The entire interview is amazing, from Cenk interviewing her and pretending he had nothing to do with her candidacy to her making a joke about being in a bar and the calling out for naked models over the microphone.

Notice Cenk laughing at the sexism.

14/

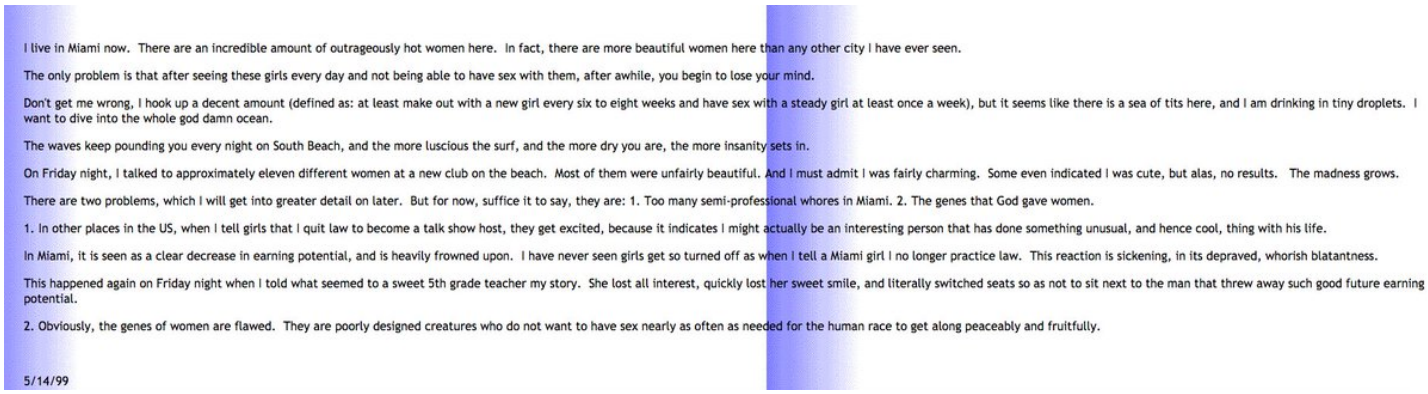

So what's going on with Cenk and Justice Democrats? In late 2017 he was forced out of his own organization. Apparently Cenk has a sexist streak in him and documented it in some older blog posts Joy Reid style.

15/

This is the video details of all of it. https://t.co/exjgXq2T1l

I live in Miami now. There are an incredible amount of outrageously hot women here. In fact, there are more beautiful women here than any other city I have ever seen.

The only problem is that after seeing these girls every day and not being able to have sex with them, after awhile, you begin to lose your mind.

Don't get me wrong, I hook up a decent amount (defined as: at least make out with a new girl every six to eight weeks and have sex with a steady girl at least once a week), but it seems like there is a sea of tits here, and I am drinking in tiny droplets. I want to dive into the whole god damn ocean.

The waves keep pounding you every night on South Beach, and the more luscious the surf, and the more dry you are, the more insanity sets in.

On Friday night, I talked to approximately eleven different women at a new club on the beach. Most of them were unfairly beautiful. And I must admit I was fairly charming. Some even indicated I was cute, but alas, no results. The madness grows.

There are two problems, which I will get into greater detail on later. But for now, suffice it to say, they are: 1. Too many semi-professional whores in Miami. 2. The genes that God gave women.

1. In other places in the US, when I tell girls that I quit law to become a talk show host, they get excited, because it indicates I might actually be an interesting person that has done something unusual, and hence cool, thing with his life.

In Miami, it is seen as a clear decrease in earning potential, and is heavily frowned upon. I have never seen girls get so turned off as when I tell a Miami girl I no longer practice law. This reaction is sickening, in its depraved, whorish blatantness.

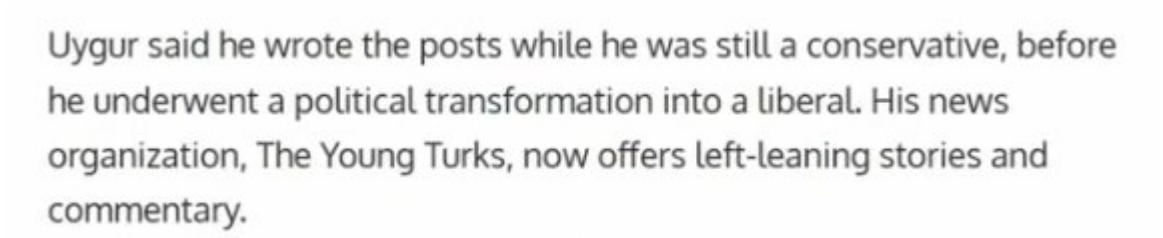

This happened again on Friday night when I told what seemed to a sweet 5th grade teacher my story. She lost all interest, quickly lost her sweet smile, and literally switched seats so as not to sit next to the man that threw away such good future earning potential.

2. Obviously, the genes of women are flawed. They are poorly designed creatures who do not want to have sex nearly as often as needed for the human race to get along peaceably and fruitfully.

I particularly like the part where he explains that when he wrote those posts, he was a different guy. He was a conservative.

17/

Uygur said he wrote the posts while he was still a conservative, before he underwent a political transformation into a liberal. His news organization, The Young Turks, now offers left-leaning stories and commentary.

Here's another post: Cenk's rules of dating. https://t.co/sQamZTxSLL

I'm not providing a screen print. I have a daughter. Look for yourself. If you want to screen print it and post it, feel free. I'm not doing it. Its vile.

18/

Here's another lovely post about Cenk and The Young Turks Sr. VP David Koller stopping at a gas station and meeting 14-16 year old "whores in training."

https://t.co/DdYYJNQXfL

/19

In one small Pennsylvania town we stopped for gas, and while Cenk filled up I went to talk to these three girls who were walking down the road nearby. Turns out they were three teenage girls, whores in training, literally looking for boys to pick them up. Cenk soon joined me and we discovered these three little spoiled brat bitch young American girls on their way to becoming abused porn actresses or dispensable property in a New York City prostitution ring. The girls live in a small town nearby, and were in this town visiting the grandma of one of them. They were around 14-16 and in a few more years will be pretty damn good looking, but not great. They were bitching about how they hate their parents and how their parents don't let them do anything. They were trying to get these 18 year old guys who were driving past them in a red to stop so they could hook up. I asked (I think before Cenk came) if these girls had ever had sex. By their reactions, I was pretty sure two of them did, and the youngest of the three maybe not. These girls were nothing but trouble waiting to happen. American parents in the big city dream of raising kids in the safe tranquility of small town America, but these places are just as treacherous because there is nothing to do but get drunk and have irresponsible sex at a young age.

But Cenk's a changed man now. He's not a sexist. He's "woke."

And don't forget the chuckle in the Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez video about the naked models. See video link from post /13.

/20

"Cenk is just a knucklehead. He's a boy. He talks about women the way I talked when I was 13," he said. "He's obsessed with body count — basically how many people you f—ed. This is an important number to him."

Uygur's public fondness for Miami women was still on display as recently as 2013, when he tweeted about their "improbable" breasts and butts.

Yeah, he's woke alright. He's woke but he's not broke. Let's see how he feels about corporate money and politics.

His organization The Young Turks is partially funded by the Media Consortium, a Soros entity. https://t.co/lC35v5L7hA

More about the Media Consortium and Soros:
https://t.co/m6u7n6KwYb

In fact, Soros funds nearly every major left-wing media source in the United States. Forty-five of those are financed through his support of the Media Consortium. That organization 'is a network of the country's leading, progressive, independent media outlets.' The list is predictable - everything from Alternet to the Young Turks.

A report by the Media Consortium detailed how progressives had created an "echo chamber" of outlets "in which a message pushes the larger public or the mainstream media to acknowledge, respond, and give airtime to progressive ideas because it is repeated many times." According to the report called "The Big Thaw," "if done well, the message within the echo chamber can become the accepted meme, impact political dynamics, shift public opinion and change public policy."

But wait, there's more.

A quick search on Cenk's net worth put him in the $18-22m range after taking venture capital money. Yes. He took "vulture capital" money.

https://t.co/ylBKwrPyrj

/23

With publicity rising in the past few years, the Young Turks has gained quite a bit of success and Cenk Uygur's recent round of investment is only more evidence of this. But how much is Cenk Uygur net worth? We can estimate Cenk's net worth based on a few important points. Recently, Cenk Uygur bought a house that was priced at $1.2 million in the Los Angeles area.

Additionally, given that Cenk closed on an initial investment round of $20 million, we estimate the value of The Young Turks corporation to be around $50-$70 million.

That would make Cenk share somewhere between $10-20 million. We therefore estimate Cenk Uygur net worth 2018 at $18-22 million.

And his family life seems to be going pretty well now too. (Sorry. This is actually a pretty cheap shot on my part. I can't help myself.)

/24

Cenk Uygur's Personal Life

As far as his personal life is concerned, Uygur was raised in a Muslim family. As of now, he describes himself as a fervent agnostic and atheist. He achieved the Humanist Media Award from the American Humanist Association.

CAPTION: Cenk Uygur and his wife Wendy Lang

SOURCE: Salaryandnetworth

He started having an affair with marriage and family therapist Wendy Lang. they eventually got married but the actual date of marriage is not known. He has a daughter and a son with his spouse who was born in 2012 and 2010 respectively.

The couple seems to be getting along pretty well and do not seem to be having any marital issues and do not seem to be moving towards divorce. He is not involved with anybody else and thus there are no infidelity issues between them and certainly seem to be getting along pretty well.

So there you have it. In a nutshell, Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez's political career was spawned by Cenk Uygur, who's history is sexism & venture capital money, in an attempt to put 400 Bernie Sanders carbon copies into our political system and move the Dems far far left.

Frank Llewelly is also the former head of the DSA: Democratic Socialists of America. Here he is talking on CSpan in 1999.

https://t.co/nFf0vMbUXa

Key bullet points from CSpan video:
-Human rights over property rights
-Limits on markets
-Public control of economy
-Rejection of private profit
-Socialism has not been tried
-Ban strike breakers
-Plenty of wealth available for socialist programs
-Slash Def spending by 50%

3/

-Prefers "living wage" not "min wage"
-Loves unions
-Change Soc Sec: lower earners do not contribute, higher earners contrib more
-Regulate behavior of corporations (this is pre-carbon tax concept)
-Single payer is cheaper
-Wealth, income, power not distributed evenly

In 2009 he was interviewed by @glennbeck
https://t.co/Dpi95jFdAy
See photo for a great exchange. Its a silly exchange but Beck gets him to make an awesome admission- Beck would have to advertise in Dem Socialism magazine against his will because its "your turn". Wuuuut?

end/

LLEWELLYN: Some people in the union movement are — you know, like socialism. Some people don't.

BECK: Well, I mean, they're spending — I print a magazine, and I don't have any union money coming into my magazine.

LLEWELLYN: I'm sure you have other people that support your magazines. You know, we're very happy that we have labor support, and we would like to have more labor support than we do.

BECK: OK.

LLEWELLYN: But we'll take an ad from you, too.

BECK: Right. No, I don't think I would. I mean, unless somebody will force me to buy an ad.

LLEWELLYN: Well, you know, that's one way to think about how to democratize the support for the publications, is if you have ads drawn by lotteries and they go to publications.

BECK: So, in other words...

LLEWELLYN: That would be — you know, there has been talk of that in some places, but that's not in the United States.

BECK: Wait. So, in other words, I would just say, it would be my turn to advertise in your magazine?

LLEWELLYN: Yes.
