

Twitter Thread by Read By The Sun ■■ • Audrey

Read By The Sun ■■ • Audrey

@ReadByTheSun

Gemini, Libra, Capricorn, & Pisces ■ - You're involved in a complicated situation romantically. There's someone you've clicked with on another level, mentally & sexually - you've found a lot of healing in their presence & you two may open up to one another like never before. -

You met on vacation/traveling, online, at work, school, or through mutual friends. You two felt a sense of familiarity & comfort from the moment you met, but also trigger feelings of inadequacy in one another stemming from childhood, their mother figure, & on/off affections. -

They're around & offer support in times when are most convenient for them, rather than keeping the relationship equal & communicative throughout. This response is from childhood, not feeling understood or having others make an effort to understand them. -

They prefer to keep others at a distance bc of this - the emotion & acceptance you've poured into them is something stable unlike they're used to, so their first instinct is to run away & repel from anything that may make them face their darkest insecurities & vulnerabilities. -

Part of them just prefers to live in ignorance & not accept love in bc they aren't sure if real love exists, what's true & what's not. They could have grown up in an abusive home, in foster care, or under a roof of people that never made an effort to nurture or understand them. -

It feels as if one of you has been getting strung along in this process of getting to know one another, though. This person's commitment issues have become readily apparent & they still don't want to face the route of these issues because of pride &/or willful ignorance. -

You could try & convince yourself that being friends with this person is something that could work out in the long term but they have a way of luring you in every time & making it more than just a friendship. This is unfair to you as a person, if they truly respected you -

They wouldn't put you in a situation where they get to have their cake & eat it too, but you're left depleted & unhappy. You can give someone all the direction, support, & love they need to make positive change, but at the end of the day it's their decision to act on this. -

You see this person in such a positive light because of what they COULD be, but you can't let that blind you from the reality of who they're willing & want to be. Enforce boundaries of your time & energy appropriately & don't feel obligated to stick around through this person's -

Healing journey. They will take you to dark places w them if you allow, but you have to put your foot down & understand that you're better off without them - you're moving forward in personal growth & need solid people around you - not anyone who makes you question your worth. -

Strong Aries, Taurus, Scorpio, Sagittarius, Capricorn, Aquarius, & Pisces placements.

Relevant • Spirituality, writing/writer, teacher, nutrition/fitness, shared friends, drugs/alcohol

• Roles may be reversed in this situation, you could be the person leading another to feel this way - take the reading as it resonates.

If this message resonated for you & you would like to leave a tip ♥■ Not mandatory but all are very appreciated, thank you in advance! ■

<https://t.co/xGTixXlQnQ>

Venmo: @Readbythesun

<https://t.co/z3PiVRHb8l>