@KirstySNP You're literally funded by neo-Nazis. Your founder is opposed to LGBT+ clubs in schools because of "predatory gay teachers". You were warned by the UK's advertising watchdog because of your misleading advertisement. You lot are moronic bigots to the

3rd June, 2020

Dear Liz,

Firstly, may I thank you most warmly for your fine work on Trade and Industry, a subject of overwhelming importance as we move towards even wider and deeper cooperation in the world market. Your leadership of our US negotiations is of the highest value.

I write to you for a second time on your other portfolio, Minister for Women and Equalities. I have received your reply to my letter of 1st May in which you kindly covered a number of the issues which I had raised.

Nonetheless my concern at the misinterpretation of equalities legislation by Stonewall, has been rightly heightened by a number of lesbian correspondents whose points are well set out in the letter of 3rd February from Aileen McColgan on behalf of LGB Alliance to Rebecca Hilson-Smith which I attach. You will note the similar damaging actions against Lesbians as a group and as individuals to those I raised for women in general. It would seem, therefore, that Stonewall's single issue, promotion of trans-genderism, has excluded women (the protected right) and thereby significantly harmed lesbians too. I find this doubly unintended impact on a highly respected part of our society as deeply regrettable and one that surely needs your early attention.

It seems clear that Stonewall single issue teaching, training and advice right across Government departments with no balancing advice is now causing deep unhappiness and employment fissures across our society.

Might it be now be the right time for you to investigate and report back on how this unique situation arose? If the EOC is too preoccupied or unwilling to do so maybe a separate examination should be put in hand. I attach my letter to Gavin Williamson on HSE where it seems that use of Stonewall teaching materials will mean more contact cases and greater public nuisance.

I would be delighted to meet and discuss this issue.

Yours ever,

Baroness Nicholson of Winterbourne

@ALLIANCELGB @KirstySNP LGBT+ people have literally died to change laws across the world because of oppression. But according to you idiots this was never the case.

LGB Alliance @ALLIANCELGB · 45m

This a really important point. In our historical gay and lesbian rights movement, we never demanded that society change its laws, its activities and its language to accommodate us. We never cursed people who disagreed with us or tried to get them fired. We always built bridges.

@ALLIANCELGB @KirstySNP This one speaks for itself - weird how you lot just love working with bigots, huh?

One day people will look back on today's events with bewilderment. A gay pub banning a gay magazine because it spoke to gay people about same-sex attraction. That is where we are now. But more people are talking. Things are getting better. Really.

Way too much use of the word gay which has negative connotations now. Some of my homo friends are genuinely fed up of being branded as poofs because of association with Rylan, G.Notron, Andy Peters etc

Teaching children that not all boys have a penis and testicles and not all girls have a vulva and vagina is confusing and potentially harmful disinformation. It is also contrary to government guidelines. @educationgovuk

@ALLIANCELGB @KirstySNP I could go on, but I think I've made my point. So when @KirstySNP says she doesn't want to talk to a hate group, she is 100% correct. And the end of the day you will be on the wrong side of history.

@ALLIANCELGB @KirstySNP And as a final point to my SNP followers reading this thread, a reminder that one of our own MSPs and our current Equalities Convener are supporters of this hate group.

@ALLIANCELGB @KirstySNP Actually, maybe one or two more. Wanting to reject the existence of non-binary people is one we can't ignore.

LGB Alliance
@ALLIANCELGB

Why do we object to the “non-binary” label? Because it insults the rest of us. It implies we conform to gender stereotypes, which many of us have fought against all our lives. Most of us are “non-binary”. But we’re women & men and we reject that label.
