The revelation that officers participated in the chaos was the latest hit for law enforcement's reputation, coming on the heels of a year in which police violence spurred nationwide protests and activists called for cutting police funding. As photographs and videos of some off-duty officers at the riot emerged on social media, some residents back home felt betrayed, while police officials worried about a black eye for the entire profession's credibility.

After rewatching The Lion King 🦁 today, I realized Scar didn't try to kill Simba. All Scar did was give a speech to his supporters about starting a stampede in Simba's direction. The hyenas made their own choices. He then fully condemned their actions.

The fact that the Capitol was overrun and sacked and there was no effort whatsoever to evacuate the president from DC to secure, remote location tells you all you need to know about who launched and directed the attack.

No way that would ever happen otherwise.

Marshall leads the Republican Attorneys General Association's dark-money nonprofit Rule of Law Defense Fund, which is listed as a participating organization for the March to Save America on the march's website, as are the groups Stop the Steal, Tea Party Patriots and Turning Point Action.

The website is now down, but archived versions show RLDF as a participating group.

"I am honored to lead RAGA's policy branch, the Rule of Law Defense Fund, and bring conservative attorneys general together in promotion of federalism, freedom, and the rule of law," Marshall said in a Nov. 10 statement to RAGA.
